DE PALMA WON VANDERBILT CUP RACE

Average Speed of 75½ Miles an Hour in Speed Classic

OLDFIELD SECOND—2 RAN NECK-AND-NECK ON LAP 29

Carlson Third; Cooper Fourth—200,000 People Thrilled by Terrific Pace

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 26.—Ralph De Palma in a Mercedes won the Vanderbilt cup race with an average speed of 75½ miles per hour; Oldfield in Mercer, second; Carlson in Mason, third, and Cooper in Stutz, fourth.

WEATHER CONDITIONS FOR GREAT RACE WERE PERFECT

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 26.—Clear skies and a gentle wind made perfect weather conditions for the Vanderbilt cup race. The course closed at mid-night, after which four hundred men went over it, putting it in perfect condition. The early crowds were smaller than had been expected.

The entrants were: No. 1, Isotta, driver, Harry Grant; No. 2, Mercer, driver, Spencer Wishart; No. 3, Stutz, driver, Gil Anderson; No. 4, Mercer, driver, Edwin Pullen; No. 5, Mason, driver, Dave Lewis; No. 6, Mercer, driver, Barney Oldfield; No. 8, Stutz, driver, Earl Cooper; No. 9, Fiat, driver, Frank Verbeck; No. 10, Mason, driver, Wm. Carlson; No. 11, Apperson, driver, Frank Goode; No. 12, Mercedes, driver, Ralph De Palma; No. 14, Sunbeam, driver, J. B. Marquis; No. 15, Marmon, driver, Guy Ball; No. 16, Touraine, driver, George Joerriann; No. 17, Alco, driver, Tony Jenette.

Shortly before 10 o'clock all the entrants began lining up before the stands. The drivers joked and played tricks on each other. At that hour the stands were about half full. The crowds at other points on the course had not attained the expected size. Grant's Isotta, which was reported last night as being out of the race because of an accident, occupied its place at the head of the line. Many drivers were escorted to the cars by their wives or friends. All of them received much applause when they responded to the roll call.

Harry Grant in the Isotta, the first car, was sent away at 10:05 o'clock. Each driver was cheered as they started at ten second intervals. Grant had trouble between the fifth and sixth miles on the first lap, and the others passed him. Wishart in a Mercer led in the first lap, with the others in regular order except Grant.

Pullen, in a Mercer, led at the end of the fifth lap; Anderson in a Stutz was second, and Oldfield in a Mercer was third. Grant had not completed the first lap at that hour, having engine trouble. Lewis, in the Mason, had engine trouble in the second lap and experienced difficulty in repairing.

Oldfield had engine trouble in the sixth lap and was compelled to take to the pits. The crowd cheered as the mechanics worked over Barney's machine, giving the veteran hearty applause when he shot again onto the course. Verbeck meanwhile passed Oldfield, but Oldfield narrowed the distance, and was close behind when they entered the eighth lap. Pullen at this stage was running easily and maintaining a temporarily safe lead. He lost the lead in the thirteenth lap when he crashed through a fence on the Nevada avenue turn, while running 85 miles an hour. The machine was wrecked but Pullen was uninjured. Anderson in a Stutz then held the lead until the eighteenth lap, followed by De Palma in a Mercedes, Carlson in a Mason and Ball in a Marmon. Oldfield passed by these three on the fourteenth lap when they stopped for fuel.

At the end of the twelfth lap the following cars were out of the race: Wishart in a Mercer, Grant in the Isotta, Lewis in a Mason, Marquis in the Sunbeam, Verbeck in a Fiat and Goode in the Apperson.

On the eighteenth lap De Palma passed Anderson. Oldfield and Carlson then passed the erstwhile leader, who had broken an axle. Anderson then withdrew.

De Palma's time for the first eighteen laps was one hour, one minute and 55 seconds.

Oldfield caught De Palma on the twenty-fourth lap, and until the twenty-ninth the two men fought neck and neck. For twenty-eight laps De Palma led on elapsed time by one second only.

The pace was terrific. Carlson continued third, Cooper fourth, Joerriann fifth. The others had all dropped out.

HAS A FIRE-BUG BEEN AT WORK HERE?

Race Track Buildings Found Ablaze and Odor of Coal Oil Noticed

NEIGHBORS PUT A STOP TO PROGRESS

String of Barn Fires Convinces Many Incendiary Had a Hand

That a fire-bug has been at work in this section—a fire-bug with a special liking for blazing barns—is scarcely questioned by those who are familiar with incidents concerning a number of recent fires.

Last night about 9:30 o'clock the buildings at the Santa Ana race track caught afire. Earl M. Harvey and J. E. Weber, who live near the track, rushed to the place, and the odor of burning coal-oil met them. Those two men were convinced that the flames were the work of an incendiary.

Seven stalls at the southwest corner of the track were burned before Harvey, Weber and Martin Hayes got the fire under control. They were aided by others who arrived.

Among the first arrivals was a stranger, a young man who popped up out of the darkness. In the excitement he was not questioned.

The race track and its buildings are owned by J. M. Akin and C. D. Hayes of Santa Ana. They were called up by Mrs. Weber and were soon at the fire. They found that Harvey, Weber and their assistants had cut a stall out and stopped the progress of the fire northward, and were at work cutting a stall out to stop the eastward progress.

Akin is of the opinion that the fire started in a room where there was an old stove. He thinks it likely that some hobo was making the place his home, and accidentally set the place afire.

The theory of incendiarism is given strength by reason of the fact that in the last three months several barns have been set afire. First was Eyraud's barn and hay at the head of Peters Canyon, near the Santiago Golf Club house. Soon after that a barn, a quantity of hay and twenty-six head of horses and mules were burned at the Irvine ranch house.

Two horses were lost. Tuesday night of this week, C. A. Forbes' barn on Custer street, with forty tons of hay, was burned down. There is no reason to suspect incendiarism in that case, and the neighbors are satisfied that a hobo was responsible for that blaze. That barn was not far from the railroad tracks.

The race track, however, is off the regular route traveled by the hobo. Neighbors have seen no tramps hanging around the place.

Akins states that he thinks that a person desiring to destroy the long line of buildings and the grandstand would have selected a night when there was a wind to drive the flames. At the time the fire was discovered last night there was no wind. The loss was possibly $50. No one has been living at the race track recently.

NEW STARTING SEARCH FOR COMPTON

Letter Says Was in Mexican Prison at Ojinaja Instead of Chihuahua

CONSUL SAYS HE IS NOT IN JUAREZ JAIL

Relatives of Missing Man Hope He is Still Among Living

"Dear Mat:—Just a word. Am in a Mexican prison in Ojinaja. Have a chance to send a note. Don't know if it will get there or not. Am sending a note to Mat Hollara. Am watched all the time. Am to be shot on Feb. 15, Sunday. But I have my gun in my shoe and I will take someone with me if I go. They searched me but did not look in my shoes. There are 6 Mexicans to be shot on the 15, Sunday morn., but only 5. I am the 6th. We are expected to be taken to Juarez in the morning but I am watching every chance although I have a bracelet on each wrist, but all I want is a chance in Juarez and then I will make El Paso. Am starting for Juarez in an hour. Ask Hollara to send me money in case I get away at Juarez. If you get this telegraph to Hollara to write El Paso, Texas, to send money. If you don't hear from me in two weeks, all is over."

"HARRY."

"Good bye Mattie."

The above is the wording of the letter received by Mrs. Mattie Compton of Oakland from her husband, Harry Compton, son of Mrs. G. W. Rolfe of Garden Grove.

Perusal of the letter by Compton's relatives here disclosed that a part of the search that has been made for Compton has been made in the wrong place. The first messages from Oakland indicated that the letter stated Compton was in jail at Chihuahua. The letter states that he is in jail at Ojinaja.

The State Department at Washington had an inquiry made at Chihuahua and Juarez, and got no trace of him.

Relatives of Compton here got a telegram from Consul Edwards at Juarez stating that there are no Americans in the jail at Juarez. This message left the relatives almost helpless, for they felt certain that if Compton had escaped he would have informed them.

Hope was revived today on reading a dispatch from El Paso in which it was stated by an escaped prisoner from Juarez that there are still sixteen Americans in prison at Juarez. He said he had seen three Americans stood up against a wall and shot. L. A. Schlessinger, proprietor of the White House of Santa Ana, a cousin of Compton, stated today that he now believes Compton is alive. Steps were taken today to have a further search made for Compton.

The heavy work already is completed, the barges being devoted to clearing up odds and ends and making the work perfect. The channel will give Houston all the facilities of a seaport.

Conditions Indescribably Awful, They Declare---Wilson Hopes for Early Solution of Benton Case

CARRANZA TO BE CALLED ON BY U. S. TO CURB VILLA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—"Either curb Villa or admit that he is the real leader of the revolution and that you are powerless," is the substance of the message the United States state department has waiting at Nogales for General Carranza. Despite the government's secrecy, it is learned that General Carranza will be informed that Villa's behavior in the Benton case is indefensible and that popular opinion here will no longer support the rebels by semi-recognition unless the rights of foreigners are protected.

British Ambassador Cecil Spring-Rice has told Secretary of State Bryan that his government is impatient over the delay in solving the Benton affair, and Bryan has replied that he expects early action. The government proposes to call on General Carranza to compel the release of the Englishmen Curtis and Lawrence, and the Americans Bauch and Compton.

Consul Edwards at Juarez has ordered an investigation of the story of A. Michaelis, recently released from jail at Juarez, who said that sixteen other Americans were still there and that nine men, including three Americans, had been executed.

President Wilson authorized a denial of the report that Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz had advised the dispatch of 1000 marines to Mexico City to protect American interests. Secretary Tumulty said: "It is absolutely false. No message recommending such action has been received. It is not intended to send marines to Mexico City."

HAYES PROTESTS THE SOFT PEAL ON ANTI-JAP TOPIC

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Another anti-Japanese outbreak occurred before the house immigration committee today despite the recent efforts of Secretary Bryan to sidetrack such discussions. It came when the Pacific coast representatives protested against the administration's anti-publicity program. Hayes of California said:

"The chief trouble in keeping out these aliens is the sentiment against them. We are ordered to put the pedal on this discussion and I am getting tired of it."

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—There was a jump of seven points of Los Angeles Investment stocks on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. For $1.50 a week, each girl is provided with a room, use of bath, laundry accommodations, use of stove to prepare meals if she desires and breakfast of coffee and rolls.

The girls are not recipients of charity," said Matron Nordlin. "They have the advantage of homelike surroundings and opportunity to entertain their friends here."

ULM'S TOTAL SHORTAGE $55,782

Period in Which Claims Can Be Filed Will End at Midnight

MANSUR TO REPORT TO THE COURT SOON

Walker to Pass Upon Some of Wrecked Association Items

Total Claims$64,682.97
Total Assets8,900
Shortage$55,782.97

In brief, the above is a statement of how the business of the Orange County Mutual Building and Loan Association stands today, the last day on which claims against the association may be filed.

F. W. Mansur, special deputy of State Building and Loan Commissioner G. S. Walker, will receive claims up to midnight tonight. He is satisfied, however, that all claims have been filed, and that no more will be received under the notice to creditors, first publication of which was made sixty days ago.

Mansur will soon file a report with the superior court, showing the various items of the claims and assets. Claims represent creditors and shareholders. The principal creditor is the First National Bank, which holds a note of $17,000.

Of the assets of $8900 there is $4326.7 in cash, Mansur having received payment on seven loans made by the association. Eight loans have not yet been paid by the borrowers. Mansur does not expect to make his report to the superior court until Commissioner Walker arrives and passes upon some of the matters contained in the settlement of the affairs of the association. There are several instances in which N. A. Ulm, who was secretary of the association at the time he committed suicide on Nov. 19, 1913, paid personal bills with association checks. Mansur has attempted to collect some of this money, but has failed. It will be up to Walker to say whether or not suit shall be instituted for the money.

One of these claims is against the city of Santa Ana for $75. Ulm paid the Grand Opera House's city license with a building and Loan Association check. City Attorney Heathman advised the city not to return the money.

With two and a half months gone by, the mystery as to how Ulm spent the money is as far from solution as ever. The work of untangling the association's books has been a big task, but Mansur has cleared up every point that it is possible for a bookkeeper to clear up. With a double set of stock certificates, with irregularities in almost every phase of the building and loan business, the straightening out process proved to be a job for a Samson.

The assets are not sufficient to cover the creditors' claim. The creditors—and in saying creditors one might as well say the First National Bank, as aside from that creditor there are but a few dollars in bills—have a legal claim against any and all stockholders for the amount due them. What process will be used to push the bank's claim to an early settlement is not known.

A number of stockholders have employed Attorney H. C. Head to look after their interests. Possibly the first move on the part of the shareholders will be to compel the directors to meet the bank's note and thus save the stockholders from being sued. Whether or not the stockholders will sue the directors in an effort to make the directors make good for embezzlements by Ulm has not been decided upon. It is likely that two or three suits may grow out of the complications, and, again, the whole thing may be settled by compromises.

It is not likely that any of the shareholders' claims will be rejected either by Mansur or Walker. Any person whose claim is rejected has thirty days in which to commence suit, after the report is filed with the superior court.

GOV. JOHNSON GAINS THROUGHOUT STATE

Eshleman Says Democrats and Republicans Will Vote for Johnson This Fall

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—"Two out of every three Democrats and Republicans in Southern California will vote for Governor Johnson next fall," said John M. Eshleman, president of the state railroad commission, upon his return to this city yesterday, after touring the south with the governor.

FALLING HAIR AND ITCHING SCALP

Entirely Needless—Use Parisian Sage. It Quickly Removes Dandruff—Your Head Feels Fine

Now that Parisian Sage can be had at any drug or toilet counter, it is certainly needless to have thin, brittle, matted, stringy or faded hair. No matter how unsightly the hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff use Parisian Sage—it is all that is needed. One application removes dandruff, the hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair, itching scalp and falling hair cease—your head feels fine. Best of all, the hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life and beauty.

You will be surprised and delighted with Parisian Sage. Try at least one fifty cent bottle. Rowley Drug Co. will refund the purchase price if you are not satisfied.

"There is a tremendous sentiment for the governor in the south," declared Eshleman. "Everywhere he stopped great crowds flocked to hear him speak, and his receptions were, without exception, marked by the greatest enthusiasm."

Eshleman spoke with the governor in Riverside, San Bernardino, Santa Ana, Fresno and many other cities in the south, and accompanied him on the strenuous auto trips, which the rains and the floods necessitated.

"No matter what candidates the Republicans and Democrats nominate," said Eshleman, "there will be a division in their ranks, and the minority element in each party will support Johnson. This factor alone makes his election, in my opinion, a foregone conclusion."

RIGRISH IS CAUGHT BY INDIANA SHERIFF

D. W. Rigrish failed to make a getaway. After being arrested and held for ten days by Sheriff Miller of Frankfort, Ind., he was turned loose because the sheriff failed to get here.

Rigrish was badly crippled with rheumatism. That and the fact that railroads were washed out prevented him from getting very far from Santa Ana. The Indiana sheriff was aided by local officers, who located Rigrish at Balboa, where he was arrested, and last night was started eastward in charge of the Indiana officer.

Rigrish was under sentence in Frankfort to pay $500 fine and serve four months in jail for selling half a pint of whiskey at his drug store. He jumped $1500 bail and came to California.

PUBLIC MEN AND SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

If the managers of a charity ball, chamber of commerce, or church fair can get a president, a governor, or other high public official to attend one of their functions, its success is assured. It is the cheapest form of advertising, provided one has the "pull" to "put it over." Every public man is overwhelmed by these invitations.

President Wilson has shut down the lid pretty close on this kind of thing. He opened up to some extent, however, in the matter of making long distance speeches to such gatherings over the telephone. Now he is flooded with requests for this favor which he has had to announce he must refuse.

Some governors and congressmen yield too willingly to these impositions. It is to them one means of feeling the pulse of the people. They like it to an extent to break over the barriers of their isolation from daily life.

No doubt it helps in a superficial way. When a governor or a congressman attends a dance, shakes hands with all comers, exchanges witticisms with local celebrities, hands out compliments on the locality, he gains a reputation for being democratic, though in most cases inside he is horribly bored.

But as for getting closer to the life of the people, he fails. Only the glossy surface of life is touched in these functions. To get close to what the people feel, he needs to have his secretary cull every significant expression of opinion from the newspapers, and talk things over with close observers of human drift.

The train travel, the upsetting of regular hours, uncertainty of hotel accommodations, make these jaunts a severe physical strain. Even the little speech over the telephone is a burden, if a public man is not to say something that will sound flat and crude in the newspapers next day.

HEALTH AND THE OPEN WINTER

The old-time theory that an open winter is prolific of ill-health seems to be disproved for the present season, in Chicago at least. Until within the past week or ten days, the winter has been unusually mild, the thermometer on January 28 recording 60 degrees. There has been practically no snow throughout the months of December and January.

But despite this fact, according to the Bulletin of the Chicago Department of Health, there has been for the eight weeks ending January 24 a reduction of 2.6 per cent in the pneumonia death-rate as compared with the average of a like period for the previous five years; 23.3 per cent in influenza and 7.8 per cent in the rate for tuberculosis. There have likewise been reductions of measles, which dropped 32 per cent; scarlet fever, 54 per cent; diphtheria, 24.2 per cent; and whooping-cough, 18.2 per cent.

The Bulletin accounts for this by the opportunity given by the mild weather for out-door living and better ventilation in living quarters. It is estimated that in the diseases named there has been a saving of 515 lives during the six weeks of December and January for which the comparison was made.

THE ECONOMICS OF COLD WAVES

The winter now coming to its close has seen two cold waves of exceptional severity that spread over most of the United States. Usually the weather is a minor matter of conversation, but sometimes temperature vitally affects economic life. Physiologists claim cold revitalizes human beings, but there are losses that make the balance at least doubtful.

The cold waves mostly come from Canada, and are great overflows of dry air chilled to a very low temperature. They either follow along the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river, or may go as far south as Colorado, and then turn eastward.

Thus they envelop for the most part a population that is trained to undergo their rigors. Old Boreas has to take it out in splitting unprotected plumbing, in which he joyfully gets away with many millions of dollars every winter. Agriculture being suspended, the farmer does not suffer much.

An enormous tax is laid on the community for heat and wood. At the cold is recharging the human dynamo, the operation is for the time provocative.

PROGRESS OF PROGRESSIVISM IN BOTH STATE AND NATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Gov. Johnson's speaking tour in the South has spread a new dismay in the hearts of those who would destroy him. There had been a thread of hope in the ascendancy of Republican registration during January, but the crowds that flocked to hear the governor and the many great demonstrations for him gave proof of a regard among the people that no schemes and intrigues to swell registration totals could gain.

The prospect looks mighty good for the Progressives. The popularity and appreciation of the governor have greatly increased. There never before was anything in California like the triumphal week that Johnson spent in the South. In Northern California the Progressives are on every hand revealing increased strength. Their registration shows it is improving and so far as the head of the ticket is concerned, the assurances are made stronger every day that he will poll a heavy vote from out the Republican and Democratic ranks.

There are some seventy thousand Progressives registered in the state already. Predictions had been made that it would be difficult for the new party with all its handicaps to roll up a registration of 100,000 before the books are closed for the August primary. That the party has actually has been more than amply demonstrated. There has been very little effort to promote registration, and to have far exceeded the Democrats and to have given so good a race to the Republicans with all their politicians exerting themselves to the utmost everywhere, speaks volumes for the future.

There has been a similar development of strength in other states. Even in Vermont the Progressives have taken on an activity and an acquisition of forces that make them really formidable. In Utah the new party has been growing rapidly. Senator Reed Smoot's followers are frankly concerned. Wyoming has recently come to the fore with a strong fighting force of Progressives. In Pennsylvania the election of Gifford Pinchot as United States senator to succeed Penrose seems absolutely certain. In Indiana the Progressives have been gaining strength to a marked degree. The situation in New York is most encouraging, and assurances are made that there is a good chance of winning the governorship in the next campaign.

The breaking down of partisanship in state politics and the efficiency and success in the business of government that the Progressives have achieved wherever they have been put to the test are important elements figuring in the influences upon the citizens of the Empire state. There is no reason why this wave of Progressive development now spreading over the country should abate. There is every reason for it to increase.

Former President Taft, in a recent magazine article, says the congressional elections next fall will tell the story. In this connection it must be remembered that congressmen are the very last of officialdom to feel the blows of a new political movement. It has been so in California, and it is the same in the other states. The first step is to win the state government, and the national side is the secondary proposition. Hayes and Kahn and Curry and Baker still champion reactionary interests at Washington notwithstanding Progressive domination at home. Only one of them were the McKays, and the Reedhams defeated even after there had been brilliant successes for the Progressives in the state elections.

The candidacy of Johnson for reelection has already brought out as surprising manifestations in Northern California as were the demonstrations of popular approval in Southern California. Sacramento reports the most remarkable trend of all. Even Alden Anderson, a rival for the 1910 nomination, is reported to be frankly for the governor. In the lists of vice-presidents of a Johnson club is included the names of W. E. Gerber and other representatives of the banking interests who opposed Johnson three years ago. This club has a membership embracing a wide range of citizenship, many who, like the bankers, had opposed the governor before. It seems that the whole county will be for him unanimously.

"It's because Hiram has made good and is the best governor we've had," explain the Sacramentoans. They are on the ground and see the workings of the Progressive administration a close range. "The grandest governor of them all," said Assemblyman A. H. Hewitt of Yuba City, in speaking of Johnson while discussing his own candidacy for Rudolph Spreckels' nomination for governor.

Irving Martin, publisher of the Record at Stockton, and a leader in La Follette's campaign in 1912, refused to follow Rudolph Spreckels in his remarkable onslaught on Johnson, and is one of the most ardent supporters of the governor to be found in the state today. A condition of paralysis prevails in the hostile camps as to finding a candidate of a measure to combat Johnson. Both the Republican and Democratic leaders passed the matter up to the Southern Californians and now the Southern Californians have passed it back again.

The Santa Barbara conference approved everything that the Progressive administration has done, very evidently not venturing to express opposition. There was no malice around a candidate, because there was none of sufficient calibre to rally round.

Rudolph Spreckels' convention at Stockton had no candidate and its following frankly says it can't find any one who is worth while for a race with the governor. The suggestion of Hewitt's name was merely a desperate last resort. Democrats who had been "mentioned" as gubernatorial timber while there was an impression abroad that Johnson might run for the senatorship have all taken to cover and their names don't get in the "mentioned" lists any more. Raker's press agent has suddenly become silent. Tarpey doesn't have his name in headlines. Others have likewise retreated. No one wants to be the goat.

Willing to Oblige. Brilliant sunshine made the garden party enjoyable. The garden really was a garden, and, though most of the guests clustered on the lawn, one or two wiser people sauntered around the rose bordered paths. Two of these were seated in a quiet part of the garden enjoying the scent of the flowers and the solitude. They were engaged. Presently a mutual friend sauntered down the path and noticed them. "You two seem to be enjoying yourselves over here all alone," said he. "We are," said the girl and, being a girl, managed to look pleased to see him. "Won't you join us?" "Sorry, I can't," answered the friend, "not being a clergyman. But I'll go and find one if you say so."—New York Mail.

Couldn't Afford to Run. When Jacob M. Dickinson, formerly secretary of war, as a member of the Alaskan boundary tribunal was called upon suddenly to make his argument because Sir Edward Carson had concluded his remarks one day ahead of time he began by telling a story: "So far from feeling any sense of confidence," he said to the president of the court, "I am in a position very deeply to sympathize with the feeling of the Confederate soldier who, when the battle line was sweeping forward in the last fearful charge at Chickamauga and a rabbit jumped up and ran through to the rear, cried out: 'Run, cottonball! If I did not have any more character at stake than you have I would run too.'"

Remembered It. "What," said a teacher to a boy with a slow memory, who had tried in vain to tell the name of the schoolmaster; "can't you remember your master's name?" "N-no, sir." "My name is Brown, blockhead?" "Yes, sir." "Well, now see if you can repeat it. What is my name?" "Brown Blockhead, sir."—Exchange.

A VERSATILE MONARCH.

Peter the Great of Russia Was a Real Jack of All Trades.

All historians agree that Peter the Great of Russia was a man of various accomplishments. After he became emperor he worked as a shipbuilder in Amsterdam. His object was to study the construction of ships that the information gained as an ordinary workman might aid him in establishing a first class navy in his own country. He also studied anatomy and seemed to delight in dissecting human bodies. He is said to have acted as executioner on several occasions, one being when, after the siege of Narva, certain soldiers disobeyed orders, whereupon he sentenced them to death and killed them himself. He was also wont to dog criminals with his own hands.

He practiced as a surgeon in his own country, where he was accustomed to perform amputations as well as to bleed persons and draw teeth. In his pockets he usually carried a case of surgical instruments. His versatility is indicated by the relics preserved in Peter's museum, St. Petersburg, where there are ship models, a chandelier and other iron articles and ivory figures, all his own construction. In the same place there is at present on exhibition a wax model of the great emperor wearing a pair of shoes and a wig made by himself.—London Standard.

STUDENTS' CO-OPERATIVE STORE IS BIG SUCCESS

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 26.—A co-operative store, established at Reed College eight months ago where books, athletic supplies, general stationery and college novelties are sold as nearly at cost as the running expense of the concern will permit, is proving such an unqualified success that plans are being made today for the widening of its scope.

The store was started with a total capital of $100 and now shows a net gain of more than $50 besides having a stock valued at $700. No student is refused credit and on an average of 100 charge accounts are carried at all times. The manager of the store stated that not one cent had been lost through the dishonesty of its patrons.

A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on, racks the body, weakens the lungs, and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr. King's New Discovery gives relief. Henry D. It is certainly the best of all medicines for coughs, colds or bronchitis. I used it for my children's coughs, and it cured them. Price 50c and $1.00. At all druggists. H. E. CIRCUS ADVANCE MAN CARRIES BIG SMILE

A man of smiles and promises and optimism and much business came to the city today—William E. Haines, contracting agent of the Sells-Floto Circus and Buffalo Bill (Haines), due to exhibit here Tuesday, April 7. Of all the men who form the great working staff of a circus, Mr. Haines is perhaps the busiest. For it is to him that the management must look for nearly all of its preliminary arrangements.

And there is many an arrangement to be made before a circus can exhibit in a city. The lot must be determined upon and pre-empted; the water rights must be provided for, contracts for food and hay and grain let, contracts for this and that made—there never is a minute when the contracting agent is not busy.

And this year Mr. Haines is busier than ever before, for with the new combination of the Sells-Floto Circus with Buffalo Bill, the increase in the size of the "circus of (hail) wonders" has been great. Instead of the tents of other years, there will be eleven acres of canvas, with seats for fourteen thousand persons. There will be a greater menagerie, a greater horse fair, always a feature with the Sells-Floto Circus, and naturally a greater program.

TRIBUTE PAID TO HENRY M. TELLER IN CITY OF DENVER

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 26.—Denver and Colorado paid tribute yesterday to the late Henry M. Teller, former secretary of the interior, and for thirty years United States senator. For three hours friends and admirers in all walks of life filed through the rotunda of the state capitol past the bier of the dead statesman. A guard of honor composed of Knights Templar, of which order Senator Teller was the first grand commander of Colorado, stood nearby.

NEW JEDSEY FOR SUFFRAGE TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 26.—The Senate has passed the House concurrent resolution amendment to the constitution, which would extend votes to women. The resolution will have to be passed again by next year's legislature before being submitted to the voters for acceptance or rejection in the election of 1915.

YOU SAVE MONEY When you buy Foley's Honey and Tar Compound because just a few doses stops the cough and heals the cold, one bottle lasts a long time, and the last dose is as good as the first. Mrs. S. S. S., 20 Van Buren St., Kingston, N. Y., says: "Father had lagrippe and his cough was something terrible and he could not sleep. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stopped his coughing, but it brought my voice back to me after a severe case of bronchitis and laryngitis." Wingood's Drug Store.

POWERED HAIR AND CURLS

Courtly and Quaint Costumes Added Gayety to Class Meeting of Philatheas

A merry Colonial affair was enjoyed last night at the B. West residence when Mrs. West entertained the Philatheas class of the First Baptist Sunday school at its regular monthly meeting. Mrs. West is the teacher of this interesting class of girls. A brief business meeting was held, "America" was sung, then the reign of merriment began. Most of the young women were in the fetching attire of Colonial days, with powdered hair and regulation curls, and the tantalizing courtly costumes that revealed dimples and lent charm to smiles. One fair Southern beauty had her colored "Mammy" with her and the garrulous old nurse furnished amusement galore with her quaint remarks and her devotion to her "young lady."

The giddy Colonial girls indulged in a peanut race, a most lively contest. Then choosing partners, they fashioned hats of all varieties from red, white and blue tissue paper furnished by the hostess. The millinery results were startling in some cases. The creations revealed the fashions of the Colonial period up to the wonderful cheapeaux of today, besides introducing some styles that belonged to no period at all but were evidently evolved from vivid imaginations.

The red and white color scheme was seen in the delicious gelatine which was in red adorned with tiny white hatchets. Crisp nabiscos were eaten with the delicacy. As the hour grew late, the powdered curls were carefully covered and the fair shoulders covered for the departure of the owners who said good-night with reluctance, so joyous an evening had they spent.

Those joining in the merry event were Misses Blanche and Lulu Minter, Jessie Lininger, Ada Borden, Bertha Bates, Helen Austin, Edith Watkins, Zella Gully, Mame Havens, Arlie Cravath, Effie White, Sallie West, Grace Roberts, Marguerite West, Wares, Brown, Mrs. Hilda McDowell.

Showers for Bride-to-Be

On Tuesday night a group of Miss Helen Campbell's friends assembled and gave her a very delightful shower, as she is soon to become the bride of Mr. Fred Watson. Many beautiful gifts were given Miss Campbell, including cut glass, silverware, linen and many other useful articles.

After conversation and music had been enjoyed refreshments of cake, candy and punch were served. Later Mr. Watson called with his new Ford to take the girls home. The young ladies present were Misses Lola Wilkins, Angie Mansur, Stella Mansur, Naomi Reedy, Orla Reedy, Edna Patterson, Leola Patterson, Stella Anderson, Hazel Burrier, Myrtle Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Campbell and Mr. Orie Campbell were also members of the party.

GEO. WASHINGTON PARTY

Ladies of Methodist Church, South, Entertained by Mrs. T. J. Haughton

Mrs. T. J. Haughton, dressed as Martha Washington and assisted by her cabinet, Mrs. Sevier, Mrs. Titchener, Miss Orr, Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. James, delightfully entertained the ladies and their friends of the M. E. Church, South, at her home, 429 South Sycamore street, yesterday afternoon. The house was artistically decorated in flags, bunting and spring flowers. A program enjoyed by all was opened by the singing of patriotic songs by every one present. Then Mrs. Sevier read a memorial to George Washington from the Ulster County (Va.) Gazette, published January 4, 1800. Piano solos by Fay Titus and Miss Caroline Haughton were much appreciated. Miss Oneta Buckley sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and Little Joe Buckley, in Colonial costume, charmed all by his singing of "Red, White and Blue" and "Billy Boy."

After the program the guests joined in a cherry hunt, red hatchets with proverbs written on them being passed. Cherries with corresponding words were hung on the curtains throughout the house, and each vied with the other to find her cherry first. Refreshments consisting of cherry pie and other "George Washington" good things were served to about eighty-five guests, which included friends from Tustin, Orange and elsewhere.

A Birthday Surprise

Mrs. George N. Greer was very agreeably surprised last Wednesday afternoon when quite a number of the ladies of the Reformed Presbyterian church called in a body and unannounced. It was her birthday and the visitors aided in celebrating it. The intruders took light refreshments with them with a resulting banquet and jolly time, as may well be believed. Mrs. Greer received a souvenir spoon along with the hearty congratulations and good wishes of her visiting friends.

Recital Tomorrow Evening
An additional attraction has been arranged for the recital which is to be given Friday evening, February 27, at the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the City Christian Endeavor Union.

Aside from the solos by Miss Eleanor Hornby and the organ numbers by Mr. Garstang, Miss Lillian Norman will give a few selections on the violin. The following press notice comes from the Detroit Free Press: "The audience which packed Prieze Memorial Hall yesterday was much pleased when Miss Eleanor Hornby, one of Ann Arbor's favorites, rendered a group of Modern French songs. Her beautiful voice, perfect diction and quiet, unaffected stage presence, won her many warm friends."

A very interesting program has been arranged for the recital and all are invited. A silver offering will be taken which will be devoted to the City C. E. Union.

Luncheon for Mrs. Collis

Miss Marguerite West was hostess today with a pretty luncheon given in honor of her mother's house guest, Mrs. Collis of Fullerton, who was formerly a neighbor of Mrs. West in Santa Ana. The other luncheon guests were old-time friends of Mrs. Collis and they immensely enjoyed the pleasant little reunion. A blue color motif prevailed in the luncheon, Miss West using lovely blue hyacinths to develop on the color scheme. Mingled with greenery they made a dainty centerpiece, and single flowers were scattered over the snowy linen.

Covers were laid for Mrs. John G. Beatty, Mrs. John McFadden, Mrs. Ada C. Brown, Mrs. Frank Austin and Mrs. Z. B. West. Miss West was assisted in serving by Miss Helen Austin and very charmingly did the young ladies do service for the coterie of ladies at the table.

Ebell Meeting

The February Ebell meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at Elks' hall and the members are requested to be in their seats promptly at 2:30, as the advisability of building the clubhouse this year will come up for discussion. The five-cent tax which each member pays toward the clubhouse loan fund is due, as is the second half of the yearly Ebell dues. Dana W. Bartlett of Los Angeles will lecture to the club on "Community Patriotism—Lessons from Old World Cities."

A COLONIAL SUPPER

Five Hundred People Enjoyed Delightful Evening at Presbyterian Church

The Colonial supper at the First Presbyterian church last night was a very successful affair, about 500 people participating with most of the ladies in costume. The excellent supper and the patriotic decorations received many expressions of admiration.

The dining room was decorated with flags, and red geraniums were on the tables. The colors surrounding the lights cast a beautiful glow over the animated scene. The efficient waiters were ladies from the Aid Society dressed in becoming Colonial costumes.

The music was a treat to all. A quartette composed of Miss Rowley, Miss Bacon, Mr. Osborn and Mr. Hawley, all dressed in costume, sang old-time favorites including "Juanita," "Jerusha Put the Kettle On," and "Tattle Tale." Miss Bacon sang a solo entitled "The Gypsies' Warning." Mr. Garstang accompanied each number on the piano. Mr. Viera gave two well rendered solos, "Old Black Joe" and a sailor song, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. W. H. Thomas. Mrs. Ludwig gave a selection on the organ. Mr. Garstang played two selections on the "Fairy Bells," an instrument used at one time in England. It has twelve strings, no sharps or flats and is played with two thumbs. It is about 2 by 24 inches and 3 inches deep, the player throwing it through the air in a circular motion while playing. This instrument has been in his possession for about twenty-five years. Miss Vera Montgomery and Mrs. Ludwig delighted their hearers by their dialect and character readings, rendered in costume.

The antiques and curios were viewed with much interest. George Washington's blue porridge bowl was there, an old lace machine, old time articles of wearing apparel, candlesticks, pictures, quilts and fancy and useful articles.

The silver offering of $121.00 will be clear, as enough was contributed for the expenses of the evening, both of which facts are entirely pleasing to the ladies managing the affair.

Economics Meeting

The third section of Ebell Household Economics will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Finley at 2:30 o'clock. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Finley, Mrs. C. F. Crose and Mrs. E. J. Andrews.

Neighborhood Section

Mrs. L. P. Hickox was hostess yesterday to one of the eight neighborhood sections of the First Baptist church ladies, all of the sections meeting at various places in the city. The ladies at the Hickox home enjoyed a social afternoon and talked over plans to meet strangers in the city and to further the work of the church. They chatted over their needlework and finally enjoyed the dainty refreshments served by the hostess. There were about twenty present.

Turkey Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hayes entertained a few of their old Missouri friends who have recently come to Santa Ana, with a big turkey dinner yesterday at their pretty country home, one and a half miles southwest of town.

For Eastern Visitor

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pease last night entertained with a small dinner party, the guest of honor being Mrs. Sawyer of Farmington, Maine. Mrs. Sawyer is the wife of a most successful artist-photographer, and is here on a visit with the O. P. Halls of Orange, who formerly lived at a neighboring city to Farmington. While Mr. and Mrs. Pease were east a couple of years ago they met Mrs. Sawyer in Farmington and saw the beautiful colored pictures made by her husband. They were greatly pleased to meet her once more and this time on the Pacific coast.

Dinner was served last evening at 6:30 o'clock in four courses, and was entirely informal. Violets were used in the centerpiece. Covers were laid for the honoree, Mrs. Sawyer; the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Pease; Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Hall, Miss Florence Hall, and Mrs. H. Hall, Miss George Balderston. The evening following the dinner was spent in whist.

From the Los Angeles Financial News

Espee Bond Issue Granted

The Southern Pacific Railroad has been authorized by the State Railroad Commission to issue $55,000,000 5 per cent 20-year bonds. The issue will be sold to the stockholders of the system at par and accrued interest, and may be converted into Southern Pacific stock at par within ten years. Any bonds not so taken up by the stockholders will be sold by underwriters on a 3 per cent commission, which would mean a profit of $1,650,000 or less for the bankers. The issue will account for the payment of $26,000,000 in 5 per cent notes of the company, due June 15, 1914; $2,000,000 due for the purchase of new equipment; $4,500,000, a loan due May 29, 1914, and for conditions and betterment, $21,500,000. The money will be spent in California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Arizona, about a third of the total amount set aside for improvements, or something in excess of $10,000,000, being included in the California budget.

In its order granting the authority, the commission said: "It is impossible for this commission, acting within the jurisdiction of one State, to investigate or supervise completely the issuance of securities by a corporation such as the applicant, operating through and between five separate States of the Union, where the lien of securities extends over all of its property and the expenditures are to be scattered over its entire system. The best that can be done is to decide generally whether the proposed bonds are reasonable, are reasonably secured as payment of principal and interest, and that the proceeds are to be used for proper purposes."

Value of Public Utilities

The Southern California Edison Company, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, the Home Telephone Company and the Union Hollywood Water Company have each filed with the City Clerk of Los Angeles their annual statement of the assets and liabilities of their concerns, in accordance with the requirements of the city ordinances. These statements are used by the Board of Public Utilities in fixing utility rates for the next fiscal year.

The report of the Southern California Edison Company places the property valuation of the company at $10,421,317.57; going value in addition thereto at $2,605,329.39; income within the city of Los Angeles at $2,629,186.58; outside the city, $2,443,846.57; expenses, $1,444,434.36; net operating revenue at $574,430.20; total light and power distribution, $89,949,675 kilowatt hours.

The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation's report gives the total value of the gas and electric systems at $16,994,616.80; total income, $4,168,525.47; total operating expenses, $2,345,754.82.

The Home Telephone Company reports the total value of its system as $7,696,672.19; total income in city, $1,561,295.62; revenue outside of the city, $24,000; expenses, $1,364,395.97.

The Union Hollywood Water Company reported a total valuation of $1,580,834.75; total income, $243,220.70.

New Income Tax Ruling

An interpretation of a section of the income tax law by the commissioner of internal revenue which will result in the saving of thousands of dollars to nearly 2,000 manufacturing establishments in Southern California has been received by Collector John P. Carter. According to this decision, the amount of premium paid by concerns of this character to insure their employees under the new State liability act will be regarded as a proper deduction in making returns under the Federal income tax law. These premiums, therefore, will become part of the exemptions allowed by the Government and will be classified as part of the general expense of the manufacturing institutions. The State employers' liability law became effective January 1 of this year. The commissioner also holds that damages in excess of insurance sustained by fires, floods, storms and other elements, shall be treated as deductible expense.

Questions Power of Commission

The question whether the Railroad Commission of California has the right to fix rates of public service corporations, doing business outside the jurisdiction of the State, will go to the Supreme Court of the United States. The Railroad Commission some time ago fixed the rates to be charged by the Wilmington Transportation Company from San Pedro to Catalina Island. A petition was filed in the Supreme Court for a writ of review, and the order was affirmed December 29, last. On February 2 Chief Justice Beatty allowed a writ of error to issue to the Supreme Court of the United States, and notice of such action has just been received by the local office of the Supreme Court. The point raised by the Wilmington Transportation Company is whether the Railroad Commission can fix rates to Catalina, which, while a part of Los Angeles County, is outside the three-mile limit of the Pacific Ocean.

Resources Arizona Banks

The last statement of the State Bank Comptroller for Arizona shows that her State banks, forty-two in number, have total resources of $24,258,801, an increase for a year of nearly $3,000,000. The thirteen national banks show a total of $15,174,004, a gain of $2,157,046. In the lead is the Valley Bank of Phoenix, $3,554,163, followed by the Gila Valley Bank and Trust Company of Morenci and other towns, $2,586,233; the Phoenix National Bank, $2,520,058; the National Bank of Arizona, Phoenix, $2,154,341, and the Bank of Bisbee, $2,089,415. Ten banks follow in the million-dollar class.

Reduction in Rates

The Arizona Corporation Commission has made a compromise with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company of Phoenix, whereby, effective February 1, a reduction was made in electric current rates of about 30 per cent and 25 per cent on gas. The corporation commission agrees that the company shall be allowed to earn 8 per cent on its officially appraised physical valuation and the company agrees to immediately set aside $100,000 for extensions to its system.

Seek Oil in Imperial Valley

The Imperial Valley Realty Board at a banquet given in El Centro decided to test out the country on the western extremity of the desert and just west of Dixieland for petroleum. To that end subscriptions were forthcoming to the extent of $37,000 and the remainder of $50,000, which it is said will be necessary to sink a test well, is assured. Surface indications are most promising.

Standard Oil Invades China

Oil fields in China which have long been worked by Japanese, and this in a most crude manner, the fields being in the provinces of Shen-Si and Chi-Li, are to be taken over by a Chino-American Company, in which the Standard Oil will be the dominant factor. Arrangements to that end have just been completed with the Chinese Government.

Automobiles in Los Angeles

According to figures compiled by the city auditor of Los Angeles, the number of automobiles in the city is 36,000, valued at $55,000,000. Basing the population of Los Angeles at 500,000, the figures show an auto for every fourteen persons and an investment of $110.00 per capita for gasoline wagons.

Harvard Students' Income Tax

Two Harvard students, Julius Spencer Morgan and Nelson Morris, will contribute $8,000 each into the National Treasury. Other students will swell the amount to $50,000, all on account of income tax.

American Tobacco Earnings

For the year ended December 31, 1913, the earnings of the American Tobacco Company show 27 per cent on the common stock.

Power from Inyo Streams

The State Water Commission has granted preliminary permits to C. O. Poole, acting for the Southern Sierra Power Company, to appropriate 300 second feet of water on Big Pine Creek and the same amount on Baker Creek, Inyo County. The power company filed an estimate of the cost of the Big Pine project at $1,300,000. The estimate for Baker Creek is $550,000. Many notices of intention to appropriate water for power purposes had been received by the commission since the ruling last October. Upon receipt of notices of intention the commission issues a preliminary permit sufficient to enable the applicant to gather data and make surveys required for a formal permit. The new ruling was made to protect applicants against the necessity of going to heavy expense and making unnecessary surveys before ascertaining whether their proposed projects are feasible.

Steel Tonnage January

The January unfilled tonnage of United States Steel Corporation is the first in 13 months to show an increase. According to trade estimates new business received during January exceeded the output by about 250,000 tons. January production on one of the corporation subsidiaries was probably near 700,000 tons, so that an increase such as expected would indicate that two months' bookings amounted to between 900,000 and 1,000,000 tons, compared with total orders of well under 400,000 tons in December, a gain of over 100 per cent.

National Currency Outstanding

On the 2nd inst. the amount of national bank notes outstanding aggregated $754,022,766, compared with $757,842,961 on January 2 of the current year and $750,481,769 on February 1, 1913, a net decrease in the first month of 1914 of $3,820,195. On deposit to secure this circulation there were $603,319,000 in United States 2 per cent bonds of 1930, the remainder being $34,763,200 United States 4 per cent of 1925, $21,753,600 United States 3 per cent of 1908-1913, the balance being United States 2 per cent Panama, 1936-1938.

Big Tanker for Union Oil

The Union Oil Company has contracted with the Union Iron Works for a 14,000-ton tank steamer. This tanker, the third large steamer to be undertaken by the Union Iron Works within a year, is to be an exact duplicate of the Associated Oil tanker Frank H. Buck, launched at the Potrero works Wednesday. She will have a carrying capacity of 67,000 barrels of oil. The contract price is to be in the neighborhood of $750,000. Delivery is to be made in twelve months.

Iron Oxide Instead of Oil

An investigation by the United States Geological Survey of supposed oil territory near Oroville, Cal., has given negligible results, the oil showing on the surface of water having been found to be caused by the presence of iron oxide. Geologist R. W. Pack of the Survey announces he has completed his investigations and that so-called oil seeps in the vicinity of Oroville prove to be mainly stains of iron and not indications of petroleum.

Bettering Power Plant

The Southern Sierras Power Company, which supplies Barstow with electric current, has decided to double the capacity of its plant in that city. This increase in capacity will enable ranchers in the vicinity of Barstow to use electric juice for their pumping plants.

ANNUAL MISSIONARY LUNCHEON WAS HELD

(By Staff Correspondent.)
ORANGE, Feb. 25.—The annual missionary luncheon of the Presbyterian church was held yesterday at the church. With about sixty members of the society seated at the table Miss Flo Scarritt, the retiring president, offered a few remarks, to which the new president, Mrs. Josie M. Bailey, responded with a brief talk.

After the luncheon the gathering adjourned to the church parlors to hear a talk by Mrs. Van Meter of Los Angeles, and vocal solos by Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. Smith. A free will offering was taken, netting a sum of $27.

Dr. Howe, pastor of the Westlake M. E. church, of Los Angeles, addressed the meeting of the Methodist Brotherhood at the church.

Dr. Howe, who has the second largest congregation in Los Angeles, is considered one of the ablest preachers on the Pacific coast. His reputation was fully upheld last evening and all enjoyed his address immensely.

The address of the evening followed a banquet served at 6:30 o'clock.

The Aloquako-Getsissawhayachindeh Camp Fire girls, which translated, means "Orange girls who overcome difficulties," held a meeting yesterday at the office of Dr. Ida Parker.

The fire-maker's rank, for which all of the girls are striving, was the subject of the meeting, a lesson in "first aid," one of the requirements of the rank, being given by Dr. Parker. The girls were instructed in methods of dressing broken arms, sprained ankles, burned hands, and how to apply a tourniquet.

Seven members and their leader, Miss Ralph, were present.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. F. Heitschman welcomed a little daughter to their home yesterday morning.

The Majel Camp Fire girls hiked to Santa Ana yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Miss Rose of the Orange Union High School.

Mrs. Edwin A. Honey of East Almond avenue, who had an operation on her eye about ten days ago, is getting along nicely and was removed from the Good Samaritan Hospital, Los Angeles, today to apartments at First and Figueroa streets.

Mrs. E. J. Weing of Anaheim spent yesterday with friends in this city.

R. F. Reisch of El Modena has purchased ten acres of land near Escudido, and with other Orange men who own collectively seventy acres there, will set the property to Valencia and lemons.

A marriage license was issued in Los Angeles yesterday to William C. Crane, 41, and Mamie H. Konhorst, 34, both of Huntington Beach.

Here's Santa Ana proof. Verify it. Read. Investigate. Be convinced. You'll find why Santa Ana folks believe in Doan's.

Mrs. M. W. Davis, 768 Cypress avenue, Santa Ana, Cal., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used off and on in our home for several years. We have been convinced that they are a reliable kidney remedy. One of the family was severely afflicted with pain in the back and other symptoms of kidney complaint. Several times he had to lay off from work. Doan's Kidney Pills brought him prompt relief and they have always done good work whenever he has used them since. "Faultless" Houdans

This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large size chalk-white eggs; these fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best of all winter layers in open front coops. Faultless strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years; eggs and stock sold on honor; send 10c for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. NOW SORRY SHE

SON-IN-LAW

Woman Says L. L. Goodwin
Wasted $1100.25 She Gave Him to Keep for Her

Mrs. Phierbee M. Hull has a grievance against her son-in-law, L. L. Goodwin, enough so that she has brought suit against him for $1100.25. She declares that she turned the money over to him for safe keeping, and that he "wrongfully and fraudulently wasted and spent it."

The complaint in the case was filed in the superior court this morning by Attorney Rosenkranz of Los Angeles. It states that Mrs. Hull gave the money to her son-in-law on Nov. 18, 1912, to keep for her until she should want it. The mother-in-law is now sorry that she did not deposit her money in a bank. She says that Goodwin refuses to return the money to her. Judgment against him is asked.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF
HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girls! Try This! Makes Your Hair Thick, Glossy, Fluffy,
Beautiful

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

An appeal has been taken from the judgment entered in favor of the defendant by Justice Hasson of Buena Park in the case of M. C. Chase against J. E. S. Heath and H. B. Allen. Chase asked for $190 alleged to be due for sand pumping a well. The defense asked for $299, alleging that Chase punctured the well casing and damaged the well $299 worth. Judge Hasson fixed the amount of damage to the well at $190.25, and gave judgment to Heath. Chase appeals.

ASKS CONGRESS TO PASS
A PRICE-FIXING LAW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A bill designed to prevent discrimination "between different consumers and localities by establishing uniform prices for uniform commodities" was introduced by Representative Metz of New York. In fact, some business men are demanding the passage of a federal price-fixing law.

MARKET SHOULD MEND
WHEN EAST WARMS

Gowen and Willard to Start
Shipments Again Early
Next Week

Navel shipments in Orange county have been held up by the rains though the Orange County Fruit Exchange has been sending out a few carloads in the last few days. The Exchange, which has one packing house at Orange, two at Villa Park, one at El Modena and two at Tustin, will be loading out, as soon as picking begins more extensively, on an average of ten cars of navels each week and four of lemons.

D. Eymann Huff, secretary of the exchange, states that the rain and late warm weather have combined to make the fruit somewhat less firm than would be liked but that, in spite of its weak condition it seems to be holding its own.

"As soon as eastern weather conditions improve," said Mr. Huff today, "which they undoubtedly will, with only occasional cold snaps from now on, and with Florida fruit gradually being moved out of the way, market conditions should improve considerably."

Start Shipments Monday
Gowen & Willard have shipped no fruit whatever since the rains but intend to begin again the first of next week.

According to this firm market conditions are not very encouraging—in fact there is no market. The keeping qualities of the navels are not improving. The fruit is over-ripe, it is said, and beginning to drop off the trees.

Sick
Women
Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. Richmond, 199 Waldo Street, Providence, R. I.

A Minister's Wife Writes:

CLOQUET, MINN.—"I have suffered very much with irregularities, pain and inflammation, but your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has made me well and I can recommend the same to all that are troubled with these complaints."—Mrs. JENNIE AKERMAN, c/o Rev. K. AKERMAN, Cloquet, Minnesota.

From Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. MURDOCH, 25 Gordon St., South Quincy, Mass.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WHITNEY OUT ON $20,000 BAIL BOND,
WIFE TRUSTS HIM

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—J. Parker Whitney, the millionaire clubman, who is charged with violating the white slave law by transporting Genevieve Hannan from one state to another for immoral purposes, returned to his ranch at Rocklin, Placer county, after being released on a $20,000 bond. Whitney is silent because his legal advisers told him that it was not necessary to talk until the time comes to tell the story to the grand jury. Mrs. Whitney, who is here, said that although she has been separated from him for years she has every confidence in his innocence. She said she would do all in her power to cheer him. Later she will probably issue a statement to aid in clearing her husband. She refused to state that a reconciliation might follow.

Polytechnic Field, Manual Arts versus Santa Ana.

An announcement to send shivers
into the hearts of the stoutest track
gladiators of the local high school.
Tuesday Manual Arts defeated Pasadena high 69 to 44. The Manual track team is conceded to be the strongest in Southern California, yet,
according to the dope, Santa Ana has a chance, and a big one. In the relay
Long Beach won from Manual Arts
and Santa Ana has bettered the time of the beach men.

The way things figure out the Cardinal and White men have an even break with Manual in the sprints and hurdles. Santa Ana is banking on Paul Anderson carrying off the high jump. Bill Dyer is also bound to cause the Los Angeles men no little trouble in this event.

In the hurdles the two Polyvans,
Ernest and Paul, are expected to uphold the glory of the local school in an entirely acceptable manner.

There are three sterling sprinters
who are bound to do a great deal toward running up the score in favor of Santa Ana. They are Charley and Eddie Fahey and Herbert Dameron.
If these boys don't walk away with the fifty and 100-yard incidents a nightly surprise is in store for a large number of people.

In the pole vault the Poly boys have not much hope of defeating the Manual Arts, but you never can tell.
Mike Robinson may have a big surprise up his sleeve for the men from the Angel City. Then, it won't do to lose sight of Henry Forberg and Leo Keney. All three of these pole men have been doing remarkable work in practice and when it comes to a show-down it is quite likely one or two things in the way of broken records will happen to the visiting pole vaulting team.

Dana Keech and Martinez are two of Santa Ana's strongest stand-bys
in the mile events. In the half-mile Keech and Hill are strong favorites.
Beverly Anderson and Bruce Wallace have a big chance to bring home the bacon in the quarter-mile.
The shot-put and discus promise to be two very interesting events, in spite of—or, more probably, because of—the fact that a Manual Arts man has a throw of forty-eight feet to his credit.

The Saturday meet is bound to attract one of the largest crowds that a field meet has ever brought together here. There will be a great many men from other schools getting dope
on the form of the local boys for the county meet which comes off three weeks from Saturday.

A week from Saturday the baseball team will play Whittier on the local field and the track team will go to Long Beach.

THE MOOSE SMOKER WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Last night the Loyal Order of Moose held another one of its interesting smokers in the club rooms of the lodge. There was a good sized crowd of boxing enthusiasts present.
The first contest was between two local boys, Snodgrass and Burrell.
They went four fast rounds and if a decision were given it would no doubt
have been given in favor of Snodgrass,
although both boys were clever.
The second contest was between Buster Miller and a boy named Thompson. These two boys from Los Angeles boxed four good rounds. The general verdict of the crowd was that the go was a draw.

The third set of boxers were among the cleverest of the evening, especially Joe Smith, who showed a remarkable accuracy for landing his blows,
while the other man, Dillon, was forced to keep covered all the way.

Harry Atwood and Byrl Hatton got together in the fourth contest of the evening and gave the spectators a fine
exhibition of the art of boxing.

The final contest of the evening was one of the most furious of the evening between Floyd Greenleaf and Eddie Hayes of Los Angeles. There was no question as to the winner of this contest as it was Greenleaf all the way.

The music of the evening was furnished by J. W. Mitchell, violin;
Louis Stevens, guitar, and Ray Carter
at the piano.

E. A. Knoller of this city acted as referee for the contests.

PITTSBURG MAN WHO PLACES NEW FEDERAL LEAGUE CLUB IN N. Y.

Robert B. Ward, the millionaire baker of Pittsburgh, who is said to be
the head of several local bread trusts,
is the man who has shocked the magnates of the National and American leagues more than any one else, except J. A. Gilmore, president of the Federal League.

For it was Mr. Ward who has put up the money for the entry of the Federal League into New York. He closed a deal the other day by which he took a ten-year lease on Washington Park, Brooklyn, the old home of the National League there. Inasmuch as the park is within thirty minutes'
ride of the downtown section of New York city, where most of the baseball
patrons come from, his action is virtually the same as placing a club on Manhattan Island. In fact, Washington Park, though across the East river,
is really nearer Manhattan than the Polo Grounds, which is so far north on the island that the trip there from downtown requires nearly fifty minutes on the elevated line.

After the Federal League had broken into Chicago the next place of importance to give it standing was New York city. The location of a club
there placed it alongside the two major leagues. Had Chicago and New York been left out many baseball men would have been inclined to place the new league in a class with the International and the American Association.

If Mr. Ward can put a winning club in Brooklyn he will have considerable advantage over the National League club, for his grounds are much more conveniently located, and the Brooklyn club has been so far down in the winning list that it has come to be something of a joke.

ORANGE ATHLETICS WINNER FAST GAME MEET WHITTIER NEXT

ORANGE, Feb. 26.—The Orange
Athletic Club basketball team won over the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. five
in the semi-finals of the A.A.U. championship, in a fast game played Tuesday evening in Los Angeles. The score was 28 to 24. Next Friday evening the Orange team will play
the Whittier Athletic Club for the Southern California title. A hard game is looked for and much interest is manifested by local fans.

The Orange men won by fighting
their way out of a tight place at the finish after the Y.M.C.A. had cut down their lead gained during the first half. The last minutes of the game were full of sensational and desperate work by both teams, with the Orange men steadily forging ahead in a straining finish.

The Orange line-up was: Park
and Hart, forwards; Pine, center;
Pistler and Slater, guards.

TWO ORANGE COUNTY BOYS ON STANFORD BASKETBALL TEAM

There are two Orange county boys
on the crack basketball team at Stanford University. A. E. Worley of Santa Ana is captain of the fast five,
and he and W. B. Blodgett of Huntington Beach are the forwards. The Cardinals defeated the University of Nevada last Saturday by a score of 25 to 24. Worley and Blodgett playing star games.

at the National Sporting Club. The fighters, paired as given, will start
ten rounds, in the order mentioned.

"BACK TO BIKE" IS; SLOGAN FOR GIRLS

Chicago Medical Expert Would Consign "Slinker Slouch"
to Oblivion

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—"Back to the bike" is the program advocated by Dr.
Effie L. Lobdell, president of the Chicago Medical Women's Club, to revive the "athletic girl" and consign
"slinker slouch" into restful oblivion.
The bicycle, Dr. Lobdell claims, will save the mothers of the race from physical deterioration into which they have fallen as a result of the "limousine habit" and its accompanying evils,
including the tango tea.

"Mentally, physically and emotionally the languishing, willowy type of miss of the present decade is not up to the standard of her sister of a decade or two ago," said Dr. Lobdell today. "Except in a few isolated instances the athletic girl is no more.
The reason for her decline is that the
modern girl, even of the middle class,
has everything done for her. Automobiles relieve her of the necessity
of walking any considerable distance.
All the exercise she gets is of the impassive variety applied to her by a masseuse.

"As a remedy for this deplorable
condition that girls are falling into I suggest that the slogan 'back to the bike' be put in circulation. Bicycling is the best exercise ever invented for a girl. It builds up the chest, strengthens the arms and aids growth. One of the reasons why girls of today are not so tall as they were ten or twenty years ago is that bicycles have gone out of fashion.

"The tango and the 'slinker slouch'
are typical of present day school girl standards. One is a passive dance and the other is a passive walk. Both should be given up."

MARCH 4TH DATE FOR CLUB SMOKER

The Athletic Club will give its regular monthly smoker on Wednesday, March 4, when a good card of boxing and wrestling will be given. Both local and city talent has been secured and a lively time is assured. Owing to a little dissatisfaction with previous smokers it is the aim of the management to make this a good one which will please and satisfy all.

Several of the local boys are working hard for the coming tournament
and it is likely some will make their first appearance at the coming smoker. Perkies Perkins, who was prevented from taking part in the last smoker owing to sickness, will probably wrestle Weber, and a hard and fast
match is assured as both boys are extremely tough little fellows.

Walking Club Interests Girls
The walking club organized by the boys has aroused the interest of the girls, who are likewise planning for some interesting trips. More than a dozen young ladies have already pledged themselves to the club and several more are seriously considering the matter of joining.

"PINK" ADVERTISING BRINGS BIG RESULTS

"Once more we have proven to our own satisfaction that newspapers are the best selling medium for automobiles," says Mark Lacy, who has charge of the auto sales department
for the Waffle & West firm. "On the day following our announcement in last week's issue of Register 'Pink,'
that we had taken the agency for the Saxon Motor Car, we had calls from nine prospective purchasers. In the same issue we had an advertisement for the Chalmers light Six and that also brought in several investigators."

THE ONLY LADY AGENT FOR AUTOMOBILES

Miss Lillian Yaeger, a young lady who is well known in Santa Ana, having formerly resided here, enjoys the distinction of being the only lady in Southern California that holds a contract as an automobile agent. Miss Yaeger is representing in the northern part of Orange county the agencies held by Waffle & West, and is making good as an auto saleswoman.
The cars she has contracted to handle
are the Chalmers, Detroit and Sax-
on. Miss Yaeger makes Fullerton her headquarters.

ORANGE VS. WHITTIER BASEBALL SATURDAY

ORANGE, Feb. 26.—The Orange
High School baseball team will play
the team from Whittier High School next Saturday on the local grounds. A good game is looked for. Last season Orange beat Whittier by a score of 4
to 1. Orange has played five games
this season, winning three of them.
Anaheim was defeated 15 to 1 last week.

SOLD BAKER ELECTRIC

The Santa Ana Garage, which recently has taken the agency for the Baker Electric Automobiles, reports
having made its first sale this week.
The purchaser is Thos. Wade of Orange, and delivery of the car will be made as soon as the road conditions
will warrant bringing the car down
from Los Angeles.

FIRST PHOTOGRAPH OF THE FEDERAL LEAGUE MAGNATES IN SESSION

From Left to Right—E. E. Gates, Counsel for the League; Weeghman of Chicago, Ned Hanlon of Baltimore, Walker and Beardsley; J. A. Gilmore, President of the League, Seated.

For the first time since they have become a serious menace to the old leagues of organized baseball the magnates of the new Federal League have permitted themselves to be photographed together. They were in session at the Knicker-Hotel in New York City, and one of the important results of their meeting was the decision to break into

New York with a club. They leased Washington Park in Brooklyn, the old home of the Brooklyn National League team. The grounds had been given up when Ebbets built a new stand further out.

Washington Park is less than thirty minutes' ride from the Wall street
and manufacturing districts of New York, and will have an immense population on which to draw for patrons. The leasing of the park was considered a master stroke by those who know the baseball situation in the city.

CANOEING IN THE SANTA ANA RIVER—ARTHUR M'FADDEN AND VICTOR WALKER DO THE STUNT

They Paddle Their Little Water-Wagon
From Newport to the Sugar Factory--Prove Trick is Possible

They stood on the bridge, not at midnight, but about sundown Saturday evening, gazing with longing eyes
at that raging, swirling, chocolate-colored, seaward-rushing body of water known as the Santa Ana river. No,
they did not look with that brand
of eyes known as "longing" because they were dying of thirst or anything like that. Come to think of it, they did have a thirst, of course, but it was merely the kind of thirst which sneaks upon some of us once in a while in the shape of a supreme acie
to do something that others believe fondly can't be done, something that has just the tiniest suggestion of the thrill of danger attached to it.

It caused quite a little discussion,
too. They, meaning Messrs. Victor Walker and Arthur M'Fadden, maintained stoutly that the feat was NOT impossible.

"It's as easy as rollin' off a log,"
said Walker.
"Why, you're bughouse, you two,"
said some one.
"It can't be did," piped up another.
McFadden didn't say very much,
but continued to follow the course of the river with that indefinable, far-away effect in his orbs. Also Walker didn't. Say very much, I mean. But he was doing a tall lot of thinking.
Also McFadden. Result: considerable agitation Sunday evening; a determined girding up of loins, a trek-
ing across the mesas to Newport Beach.

Now, McFadden is not what might be called an absolute stranger to that species of nautival water known as a canoe. In fact, put him in a craft of that kind, and he will perform gentle antics on the water that would cause a hectic flush to suffuse the cheeks of Link Beachey, were he to witness said antics. Then Walker himself is not one of our most inveterate little paddlers. He is quite some technician, in short.

They launched their frail craft, as the lady novelists would put it, at 6:30 Monday morning, in the fog.
They were going to do it up brown.
The stunt, not the fog. They paddled against the stream. Not by departing from Newport Beach, you know. Unless they'd have wanted to go out into the ocean. Which was not their intention at all.

They kept to the right hand side,
next to Mesa Bluff, continuing on this task for about four miles. Their idea was to go up the river. But they could have hardly been expected to keep in the river proper all the time.
Especially when there was so much water everywhere about that W. J.
Burns himself couldn't have told precisely where the river was and where it wasn't. Part of the time they were canoeing in the river and part of the time they were canoeing on sugar beet land. Not carrying the canoe, you understand, but floating about in it.
In the water that was on top of the beet land.

The story has taken the bit in its teeth. It's running away, so to speak. So we'll have to jump off the backboard and go back a little.

Walker and McFadden couldn't have taken a great amount of baggage with them in any case. Because the capacity of a canoe is considerably less than that of a five-ton truck, for instance. For this reason one of the things that they did not take with them was a shotgun. The other reason was that our heroes are "susceptible to temptation," as Walker expressed it. What sort of temptation?

The ducks and geese were so promiscuous that Walker had an arduous time of it, taking it all in all. He couldn't devote all his time to paddling, because he'd have to lay off every once in a while and club the Cin-namin Teal off the gunwale of the canoe. Of course, this is somewhat hyperbolic, but there were a lot of teeth. So many, in fact, that Walker is convinced that the present law relative to the non-shooting of ducks
just at this time of year is out of kilter a whole lot.

The next thing they did was to cross
the river levees, which are from six to eight feet high, and go over to the Huntington Beach side, where the gun clubs are. Walker says there was a good stream running from the river dam to Talbert. The course to Huntington Beach took them over the tops of fences mostly, though part of the time they had to go under the barbed wires. If you don't think it is some exploit in navigation, this going under fences in a canoe, try it some time.

They finally got to the river again,
paddled past the Talbert bridge and covered a mile and a half of the Newport drainage system. This gave no trouble, but when they took to navigating the celery and beet fields and pastures past Old Newport the fences
began to get too numerous for comfort. However, they got nearly into Fairview, and paddled through the pastures to within about a mile of the sugar factory.

McFadden and Walker came very near spilling once. They had hauled a Mexican across the river and he, in spite of having been warned not to step on the gunwale of the canoe, did

HIGH SCHOOL SLOWS UP IN THE SIXTH

Carillo and Carver Show Class
in Batting—Warren
Walks Manv

Yesterday was an off day for the Cardinal and White baseball team,
it being defeated by Pomona College. When the smoke of battle had cleared away the score stood 5 to 2.

The high school played fast ball
for five innings, leading the Sage Hens by two runs to nothing at the end of that time. A batting rally in the sixth, however, netted three runs
to the collegians, and the Santa Ana machine seemed to go to pieces, piling
up many costly errors.

Both sides used two pitchers, but
the high school gave their boxmen
but poor support after the fatal sixth inning, while the Sage Hens played git-edge ball, stealing eight bases,
and making but one error. Becker,
who started the game, walked five
men in as many innings, and Daniels,
who went in to relieve the captain,
passed four in the same number of trips to the mound, but both pitched air-tight ball in the pinches.

Warren for the Polytechnics was also free in issuing transportation to first, and while Duhart was better in this respect, the Blue and White team landed on his offerings for many extra bases. Warner, Daniels and Bergstrom shared batting honors for Pomona, while Carillo and Carver were the only Santa Ana men
to connect safely.

Santa Ana's line-up follows:
Brown, catcher; Carillo, first base;
Parker, second base and shortstop;
Carver, third base; Elliott, center
field; Duhart, shortstop and pitcher;
Morrison, right field; Adams, left field; Warren, pitcher; Jacobs, second base.

The score:
Pomona R. H. E.
Santa Ana 9 5 1
Batteries—Becker, Daniels and Youngman; Warren, Duhart and Brown. Umpire—Harry Kingman.

MOVIES USED TO TEACH BOYS

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Feb. 26.—The moving picture machine used for the past two years at the Minnesota Training School for Boys has proved extremely beneficial and has more than paid for itself in the good results obtained, according to J. T. Fulton, acting superintendent of the State Training School for Boys, here today. The state board has sanctioned use of moving pictures at the institution as a permanent course of instruction and educational amusement. Pictures are chosen for their educational value.

so, in getting out, and had not Walker
hit the Mexican in the shins in order to make him jump the entire party
would have had an impromptu bath.
The return trip down the river, a distance of at least fifteen miles, was made in about two hours, the canoe travelling most of the time, at the rate of about fifteen miles per hour.
The adventurers got back to Newport
by 6 o'clock, none the worse for wear.
The canoe, a well-built one belonging to McFadden, got several severe scratches, but was not otherwise damaged.

THE CULPABLE BABBLINGS OF DIOGENES DING-BUSTIT

This is that peculiar season of the year when a young person's thoughts turn, sprite-like, so to say, to questions of how he (or she) may best get rid of what may be called an abundant superfluity of profuse animal spirits. In the dainty and dainty springtime the query is whether to assume that obscure unrest, that indefinite itch that ambitious uneasiness that so tenaciously obsesses one when walking out-of-doors and noticing the tender blossoms unfolding in the dazzling sunshine and the sportive birdlets twittering their little twits among the umbrageous limbs.

Everyone in the world, "when the hounds of spring are on winter's traces," becomes afflicted with this malady. It isn't to be avoided. That is, at least not by people whose blood is of somewhat thicker consistency and a little more crimson in hue than that prosaic liquid commonly known as dish-water. This said annual physiological contemps, as it might be referred to, must be relieved, alleviated, allayed, lessened, remedied, eased, mitigated, palliated. In some way it must be extricated and disentangled from the system. Some few members of our not-as-yet-quite-civilized-and-subdued society, in order to oust some of this disturbing energy, betake themselves to the gentle business of cracking bank vaults, of signing names other than their own unto little pieces of valuable paper. Others of the afflicted indulge in that dangerous and arduous sport known as croquet. Others luxuriate in that heinous and Satanic pastime of knitting. Still others have been known to venture far into the remote wilds and fowl morasses of whist, that ne plus ultra of amusements for the mentally feeble. (After him, boys. He ducked into the alley.)

All of which foregoing is but to lead to the statement that most nations, and America more particularly, have not had acute hankerings for indulging in the proceedings just mentioned above, but have, instead, realized that something absolutely MUST be done to relieve the suffering. Hence polo. Hence football. Hence baseball. Hence every other variety of modern, healthful outdoor sport.

See what I mean?

You can see for yourself that the thing works out right here in Santa

Ana. Haven't the plumbers organized a baseball nine? And the Moose? And others? Doesn't the owner of a plumbing shop realize as well as anyone that his men are not more liable than others to be immune to spring fever? Certainly. But he isn't going to take any chances. Not he. Do you suppose he's going to ruin several hundred dollars' worth of material by letting his men bite holes in six-inch water pipe in getting rid of their surplus zeal and vigor? Do you suppose he'd enjoy having his help lambaste one another with sizzling, sputtering soldering irons, dig trenches so fast that they would be a half mile ahead of themselves, thread pipe so quickly and savagely that the pipe would be all threads? No. Most emphatically, no! He encourages them to get their nine started. He enthuses about the thing. Perhaps he may even condescend to umpire the games. Who can tell?

It's a gay life.

It happened in a town that was rabid on baseball: "Do you know that J. P. Morgan is dead?" "You don't say! What team did he play on?"

And so it goes.

AMUSEMENTS

At every performance of "How D'ye Do" Harry Watson, Jr., of the famous fun-making team of Bickel and Watson, is required to carry a piano on his shoulders for eight minutes. The piano is the regular upright size and is perfect in every detail with the exception of the strings. In order to make the piano light enough so that Mr. Watson could carry it, it was necessary to eliminate the strings or harp from the instrument. Mr. Watson trained continually every day for seven months in order to perfect this one bit of business in "How D'ye Do." First, he started to harden his muscles with small weights, gradually increasing the size of the weights until he could with ease raise an enormous weight. Prof. Sargent of Harvard University, a world authority on physical development, says that the muscles in Mr. Watson's neck, arms and back are the only perfect muscles he has ever seen on a human being. Mr. Watson's painstaking efforts simply illustrate to what lengths the Thespian goes nowadays in order to reach the topmost rung of the artistic ladder, and it also illustrates the character of the entire production of "How D'ye Do." No amount of time or no effort has been too great on the part of the producers to make "How D'ye Do" perfect in every musical, comedy, scenic and costume detail.

"How D'ye Do" is the companion piece of "The Candy Shop," in which Rock and Fulton and their associates scored such a tremendous hit when they were seen here recently and is an even greater success than that production.

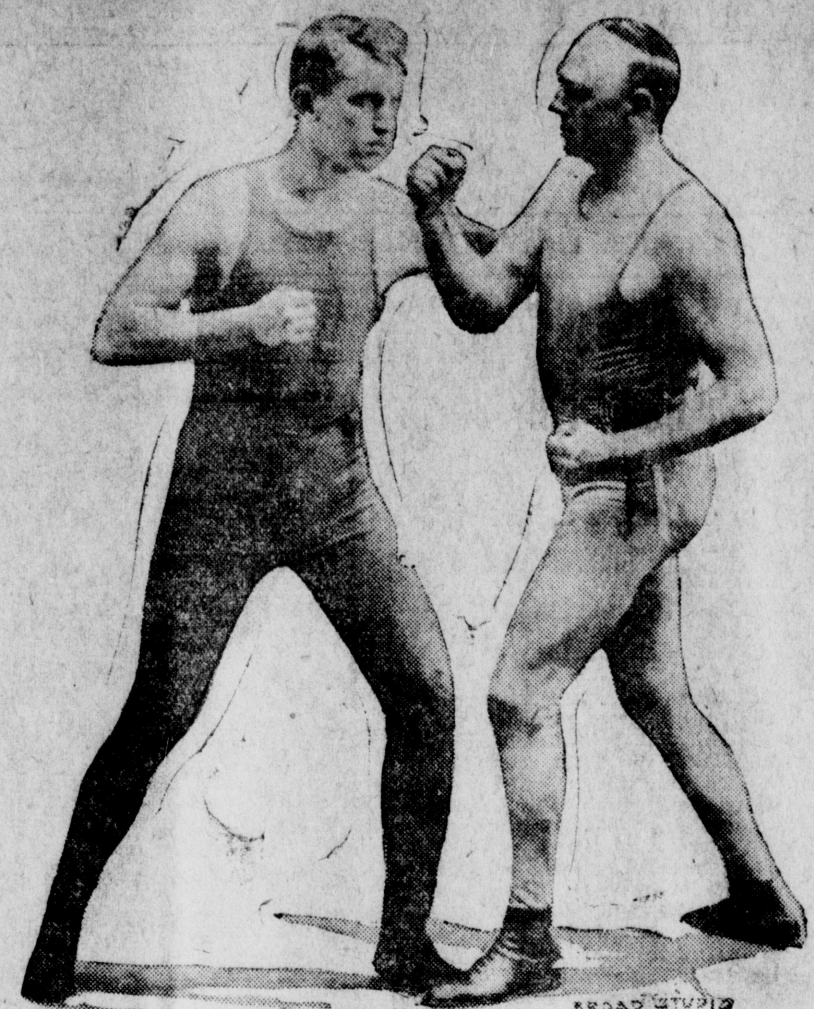

"How D'ye Do" will be seen for one night only, at the Grand Opera House, on Friday evening of this week.

The pointing machine, a mechanism for the enlargement of statuary from models, is being used for the first time in the art department of a great exposition at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition studios. The machine was invented by Robert Paine, who, as assistant to August St. Gaudens at the time of the Chicago world's fair, conceived the idea that the laborious work of preparing colossal sculptural figures could be done more quickly by mechanical means. The machine allows the completion of work, which before consumed a year or more, in one month.

WHAT BOB FITZSIMMONS, OLD CHAMPION, HOPES TO DO TO "BATTLING" LEVINSKY, THE FREAK FIGHTER

Bob Fitzsimmons, former champion of the world, and perhaps the greatest fighter of Queensberry days, is matched to box that human freak, "Battling" Levinsky. Bob says he will lift his right inside of Levinsky's left hook and drop Dan Morgan's aspiring white hope.

Levinsky, himself, is one of the most remarkable fighters the country has known. He never trains; he just fights, sometimes twice a week, often three times. Lately Morgan had him matched for six fights in one week. It is probably true that since the beginning of 1913 he has had more fights than Fitzsimmons in all the years he spent boxing in the United States. Fitz fought eight or ten times a year. Levinsky has had fifty fights within six months.

"I don't train," said he. "Morgan doesn't give me time. He makes the matches too fast."

Morgan is one of the most successful managers of second-class fighters the country has known. He made a fortune for Knockout Brown, a lot of money for Jack Britton, and is making a fortune for Levinsky. If he were to manage a champion he would probably make more money than any manager of the past ever dreamed of.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW IS TO BE HELD MARCH 7

The auto show that was to have been held in Anaheim Saturday, Feb. 28, has been postponed until the following Saturday, March 7. This action was taken after the Santa Monica races were put off until next Saturday. It was thought that too many people would go to the auto races who otherwise would go to see this show.

The postponement will give the dealers of the northern part of Orange county time to make more elaborate preparations for the first show ever held in Orange county.

The contest which is now going on in the art departments of the five different high schools in the county for $20 for the four best posters illustrating the auto show has been creating a great deal of interest. About fifty posters have been promised already. The date when the contest will be closed has been changed to Saturday, Feb. 28, thus giving another week in which to prepare them. The contest is not limited to high school students. Further information on the contest can be obtained from the art departments of each of the five different high schools, or from J. L. Cadman, care of P. J. Weisel Co., Anaheim.

A splendid free program has been arranged for both afternoon and evening. A high class company of colored entertainers will give an entertainment in the auditorium. Assemblyman Hans V. Weisel of Anaheim will give a talk on California's new automobile laws.

Quail and Their Enemies

By ANDREW JOPLIN

Herewith the Register prints an instructive and interesting article on "Quail and Their Enemies." This article is written by one who knows just what he is talking about. Andrew Joplin, a keen observer of nature, has lived in the mountains of Trabuco and Bell canyons for years.

It might be said that the Orange County Fish and Game Protective Association indorsed the proposal to take the road-runner off the list of protected birds. The recommendation was never put into law, and the road-runner still has the protection of the law.

As there has been a little said and written in regard to the quail and their enemies in Orange county, and as the hunters are always interested in game and fishing, I will also try to chip a few chips to throw into the stream of conversation.

Let me say that I will agree, in some ways, with the article published in the Register of Feb. 19, especially as to why the game is not killed by the hunters.

The game is being exterminated in a great many ways besides those the article speaks of. One of the first reasons is the birds of prey that get eggs and also the little quails. I was going along a road with a friend one fine morning and our attention was called to a cloud of dust and a number of squeaks and futters up the road ahead of us, and as we came up we could see two quails flying and fluttering very much the same as an old hen does when she is trying to drive a hawk away from her chicks. On closer examination we found that a road-runner (commonly so called) was the cause of the commotion. The road-runner had a little quail, about as large as a linnet, and was trying to kill the little thing by thumping it upon the ground, and the old quails were practically helpless.

I am not through with the road-runner yet. This long-tailed scamp took the little quail in his beak and started to go—and he was gone. But do not forget that there were some bunches of quail not far away, and in this cacti was a nest made of sticks and three young road-runners, all with mouths, and the old mother saw to it that they were well filled, even if it took eight or ten little quails a day to fill them, besides eggs of various other kinds of birds.

The quail has more trouble yet; this is only a start. The next great enemy of the quail is the raven. He is a sagacious rascal, with a heart as black as his feathers. Now, next laying season you watch a pair of ravens and see if what I am going to tell you is not correct. Do not take my word for it.

The raven usually finds a cliff and builds her nest out of sticks and lays five eggs, and when these eggs hatch, baby ravens must be fed, and the quail and dove certainly lose a great number of eggs and young, for a raven never lets her young starve, even if it takes all her and her mate's time collecting the eggs of the quail and dove to satisfy their rapacious appetite.

On another day this aforesaid friend and I were out and he called my attention to a dove's nest in an elder tree. He said that "the chances are that an old raven will find that nest before the doves can fly, even if they are half grown now." Three days later I came along the same road again and the young doves were gone, and the bottom of the nest lifted out. "Haven," I exclaimed.

I will hit the raven another swat. You watch him sometimes and see for yourself. The ravens usually fly over a strip of country ten or more miles across, in calling distance of each other. They fly from one to two hundred feet high, and believe me, very few quail nests are missed, even at that height. Look now! One of them is flying in a circle and is intently looking down. Now he alights. See, the mate has been called and has also alighted. You rush upon them and off they go, both with an egg in their beaks.

Now pardon me for butting into said article. But when a nest is taken the hen quail drops her eggs on the ground for a time, hence the reason we find scattered eggs occasionally, and not because of the unfavorableness of the season. When she has laid about all of her eggs she and her mate will then get with the other quail of the original flock, some of which have also been broken up.

Again, birds of one flock always drift back to their original feeding-ground unless they succeed in raising a flock of little ones, and as soon as they get the little birds large enough to fly, you will often see from two to eight or ten pairs of old birds with the little ones, all running together, the male bird hovering little ones of all sizes, for the males do as much to protect the little ones as the hens do.

There are lots of other things to destroy the quail besides those I have mentioned. The blue jay comes in for his share. Just stop and think. There are more blue jays in California than there are quail. There is also the coyote that wants his share, besides foxes, skunks, bobcats, hawks and owls; but let me say the main robbers are the ravens. They do more than half the work of destruction. Next comes the road-runner.

The blue jays, of course, owing to their great numbers, do lots of mischief, for you find them from the low hills to the tops of the mountains, as far as vegetation reaches. They do more to destroy the mountain quail than anything else. The mountain quail lays white eggs, which makes them easy for the jay to find. Do you know there are but few mountain quail killed by hunters? So you see how they go and why they do not increase faster. I can show you flocks or parts of flocks of both mountain and valley quail that are about exterminated that hardly know the sound of a gun. The jay and other enemies of the quail have done the exterminating.

The owl is another bird we see but little of, though there are a great many of them in all parts of the country. There are several kinds of owls, but only one that need be mentioned here. That is the big gray fellow with long tufts for horns, and large cat eyes. He is the kind that sits upon a limb and makes big eyes at you and in the still hours of the night says "hoo, hoo, hoo."

Did you ever hear quail fly out of their roost trees at night and scatter in all directions? If you should again some time, slip up to the tree and sit down and see for yourself. You will see, more than likely, an old horned owl fly away. So there are many reasons why the quail are scarce besides dry seasons. All birds and all animals of prey are natural enemies of the quail, and not only rob their nests, but catch their young and help the process of extermination.

From the above you can see why quail are scarce and why eggs are found scattered all over the districts inhabited by them.

One other thought on the subject is, that in dry seasons the brush foliage and vegetation are thin and the quail cannot hide their nests and young so effectually as in seasons when the rainfall is great enough to give us an abundant growth of brush and vegetation.

PAIGE

—The superiority of Paige construction can best be ascertained by a careful examination and comparison of the many qualities to be found in the Paige which other cars, selling at or near its price, do not possess.

—We do not carry our transmission on the rear axle and subject it to undue strain and wear. Instead, the transmission forms a part of the unit power plant carried on the frame in such a way that road shocks are entirely eliminated, and the riding qualities of the car greatly benefited.

—We have separate ignition, furnished by Bosch high tension magnet, and have the double unit large size Gray and Davis starting system, which is used on motors much larger than the Paige.

—We have 36 actual horse power and every part of Paige construction is related to every other part—consequently, a long-lived and satisfactory car.

—No other car selling under $1500, has as large a motor (4x5) or as long a wheel base (116 inches) as have Paige cars.

Sporting Briefs of the Week

[By Hal Sheridan]

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—When the Federal League was just beginning to break into print and disturb the peace of mind of organized baseball, one of the chief stocks in the trade of arguing against the possibility of the league being able to live was the statement of big baseball officials that there was not room for a third league. There was no place for another organization, it was declared, and therefore the Federals could not exist. As a result of the recent meeting of the leagues in New York, however, we now know that organized baseball itself has been considering for the past two or three years the establishment of a third major league circuit. Also that one of the "war plans" considered in the early days was the placing of a third league in the field to combat the Federals. All of which indicates anything that one may wish to take it as indicating.

As might be supposed, there are many things to consider in establishing a third major league circuit. Most of the baseball officials admit that a real major league town will support two ball teams. Baseball has reached the stage where it is taken as a steady diet by the fans and continuous ball is looked upon with favor in the larger cities. One of the sticking points has been the matter of players, however. Star ball players are scarce. The sand lots, minor leagues and colleges are combed every year for talent. Few ever get any further than the training camps and some go scampering back to the tall grass soon after the season opens. Others come up from the training camps and are not turned back, but they are not heard of again for two or three years. As a matter of fact some of the clubs leading the two big leagues have men buried on the bench who are better ball players than perform daily for the tailenders, and there you are.

The major leagues knew they would have difficulty putting a third big circuit under way. No one would be willing to give up; but if the Federals keep at it, they may show how it can be done. "The only way a third major league could be started by organized ball," said a well known manager here recently, "would be to take some players from each of the clubs in the American and National leagues as a nucleus for the league. But a fine chance there would be of getting any of the club owners to loosen up. Why, I could have won a pennant one year if I could have bought, borrowed or stolen a catcher when all of my regulars were out of the game, injured. Could I get one? Yes, just like I could persuade John D. Rockefeller to pay his $12,000,000 in Cleveland. The club owners hang onto what they have, and there would be a fine time getting players for a new league."

Connie Mack had Walsh, center-fielder for the Athletics during the last world's series, buried for two or three years. Walsh was then a star, but Mack had men of such high calibre there was no place for Walsh but on the bench. He played every position on the team at one time or another while waiting around for some veteran to crack and make a place for him. These men who are doing time on the bench are inexperienced and need training, it is true, but whenever a greater demand for star players develops they will begin coming to the top. If the Federal League cuts in and is able to grab off some of the star minor league players the two big leagues may be forced to pull out some of their bench warmers a little sooner. Because stars are scarce now is no reason for believing they will continue to be. It is natural to suppose that the more baseball there is to be played the more players there will be developed, and the percentage of stars will increase in proportion.

The Federal League is in a position to wreck the minor leagues or the country if it cares to, in the opinion of Joe Tinker. He has pointed out that where the major leagues pay fabulous prices for a minor league star (the money going to the club owner) the Federals may secure such a player by simply bidding to the player direct and meeting the offer of organized ball with an offer of salary to the player equal to the amount the majors pay for him. After organized ball makes the purchase they would still have the man's salary to pay, but the Federals would have taken care of that by turning the big money to the player in the form of salary instead of handing it to the club owner. As the big money in minor league ball comes from the sale of players these interests are hammering loudly at the big fellows to find some way of stopping the Federals, taking them into the fold, or doing something to divert destruction. Of course this idea of wrecking the minors works both ways, for without the minors no crop of major league players would be developed. The Federals would thus be crawling out on a limb and then sawing it off, which raises the question of how far they would go with such war measures.

COMISKEY ILL IN ROME

Charley Comiskey is so ill in Rome that he will probably not be able to rejoin the world's baseball tour. It was due to Comiskey that the tour was undertaken and to him must be given most of the credit for the spread of American baseball gospel in the countries which the teams visited.

DEER KILLING DAYS ARE ENDED BY TRAP

There is now on display at Hill & Walker's store a remarkably fine mountain lion skin, brought in on Tuesday by Andrew Joplin. The hide has been prepared and tanned so that it is now ready for mounting.

According to Mr. Joplin the lion had been, like others of his tribe, a most ferocious marauder. Among the last to fall a victim to his predatory prowess was a deer, the remains of which Mr. Joplin found in the hills. From the "lay of the land" of the spot where the deer was found could be deduced that the lion had crept upon his prey while the latter was feeding. The lion's stealth brought him to within about fifteen feet of the deer. A good-sized bush served to hide the wily cat's approach from the antlered monarch and it is inferred that the lion covered the entire remaining distance of fifteen feet at a single leap. The lion's claws fastened themselves into the deer's face and, judging from the way the ground was torn up, the huge cat and his victim must have whirled about a great number of times, an indistinguishable, savage and snarling mass. The deer was undoubtedly brought to the ground within a radius of ten feet.

It wasn't many days after before Mr. Lyon walked into a carefully concealed trap and now his predatory days are over.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The heavy local arrival of eggs and butter which were delayed by rains has been the cause of a slight decline. Eggs dropped to 20 cents, and indications generally are for a still lower market by two or three cents within the next two weeks. Buying was very good, but not sufficient to take up the surplus and maintain quotations at the prevailing figures of yesterday. The North also showed a decline. Receipts were 846 cases.

Butter arrivals were 49,460 pounds. Prices this year will probably be lower than they have for three or four years past, for the reason that the production per capita has been on the increase, and exceeds that of any previous year. This added to the apprehension of foreign competition will mitigate largely against any heavy storage buying until quotations are so low that there is no possibility of losses during the winter. Storage butter shows a shrinkage and storage charges which aggregate 2 cents a pound for the season on all butter put away. It is necessary to figure on selling the butter for less than that coming from Australia, and for that reason the storage quotation can never be so much over 29 cents, which is the average price for the production, shipping and delivery charges to Los Angeles on this foreign butter. The decline on butter yesterday was only 1 cent a pound, bringing the price to 25 cents.

A True Sportsman Knows

That His Horse Appreciates Perfect Fitting Shoes

My specialty is shoeing saddle and driving horses as they should be shod. The proud gait of your horse as he leaves our shop is an indication that he is properly shod. A trial of our shoeing will convince you that we know our business.
